Amateur Dramatic Society Will Present Comedy

For some weeks past an organization taking the name of the Champion Amateur Dramatic Society has been preparing for the presentation of a comedy entitled "The Great Impersonation," or "Home Came Ted." While The Chronicle has had definite inside information in regard to the progress being made, very little has been said openly in order to prevent the theatre going public with a real surprise and make what in newspaper terms is called a "beat." With May 7th set as the date for production any seal that has been on our lips has been removed and we hasten to assure everyone that this is an evening's entertainment that cannot be missed if casts is to be retained or if genuine pleasure is a real object in paying the price for admission. The cast printed below speaks for itself and assures those concerned that all the real talent in the community has been cornered for this event. Mrs. W. S. Ryan, who is in charge, has brought the experience and the ability to transfer histrionic attainments to those taking part, so it may be taken for granted this will be a finished production. Totally unsuspected talent has been developed as preparations progressed and there is not the most remote doubt that a great treat is in store for young and old on May 7th.

First Half-Holiday Wednesday, May 5

Following the usual custom the Wednesday half-holiday will be observed by Champion during the coming summer and Wednesday, May 5th, will be the beginning of the closing. All interested are requested to make a note of the date and thus avoid any inconvenience.

Railway companies have advised the provincial department of agriculture that the arrangement for the transfer of settlers from the drought areas will be brought to a close at the end of May. No certificates for removal of settlers under the special arrangement between the railway companies, the provincial and dominion governments, will be issued after May 1, and those settlers for whom certificates are issued before that date will be required to have their goods all shipped by June 1.

G. L. Dupue and Chas. McLean were observed giving an extensive examination to the front of the former's building recently. George has been too busy to interview with regard to what is in the wind, but there is every sign as to which way the wind is blowing.

The sale is reported of the Equitable Farm, in the Milk River district, south of Lethbridge, one of the largest of Albert's ranches and farms. The farm comprises nearly 4,000 acres, and it is stated that the amount involved in the sale was $110,000. The purchasers were Saskatchewan men.

Champion Organizes For Baseball Season

An enthusiastic baseball meeting was held in G. L. Dupue's office on Wednesday night to complete organization for the coming season. The following officers were elected: President—G. L. Dupue. Vice-President—E. Latiff. Manager—A. W. Jopling. Sec. Treas.—B. M. Roberts. Grounds Committee—R. F. Nelson, F. L. Bassett. Finance—J. M. Moffatt, Geo. M. Campbell. Delegates to league meeting at High River—D. W. Harper, A. W. Jopling, B. M. Roberts. Everyone present was of the opinion Champion must have a ball team and if the public at large provide the necessary support there is not the slightest doubt the team will this year continue to uphold the reputation Champion now holds in this line of sport.

The Banff-Windermere highway via Lake Louise will open for traffic May 24. The Alberta end of the highway, from Calgary to the Banff Park, is in excellent shape, having been open all winter for traffic. This was one of the first gravelled highways to be completed by the province, and has already seen considerable traffic this year. The indications are for a very heavy tourist traffic over this road this season.

Work on the interior of the Savoy hotel has made rapid progress this week in the hands of M. McDaw. The proprietors intend painting the building outside as part of this year's programme, which will make this hotel the best in appearance as well as in fact the best on this line.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Miners in the Crows Nest Pass are very much dissatisfied with the amount of orders the mines are receiving. Some very ill-advised strikes lost the available market for this coal and it will require time to get it back again.

The "All Canada" supplement of the Christian Science Monitor, just issued, is well worthy of perusal by everyone who can secure it. It contains a bulk of information in regard to Canada, with copious illustrations, the whole being highly instructive as well as entertaining.

The prompt lowering of prices by the motor companies upon the lowering of the duty should remove for all time any doubt as to who pays the duty and that the price goes up with the duty. While thousands of people in Alberta voted for a higher tariff in the last election, the contention was very much at large that prices would lower rather than rise with a higher tariff. It would require a very daring politician to make such an assertion now and a very glib public to accept it.

A People's Budget.

Considerable capital was made in the last Dominion election of the fact that the Liberal Government had lost the support of the Winnipeg Free Press. The following article from the Free Press with regard to the budget would therefore appeal to those with whom the opinions of that paper carry weight. It covers the ground so thoroughly that the whole article is reproduced:

The budget brought down to Parliament Thursday by the Minister of Finance will give widespread satisfaction. It shows the country to be in a soundly prosperous condition, with the certain prospect of further improvement; and it brings to the individual taxpayer not the promise, but the actuality of a substantial reduction in taxation that will be felt immediately in every household in the country.

The cuts in taxation are all economically sound and politically judicious. The rate of taxation upon automobiles was a scandal; once it was directly attacked as it was both last year and this season by Progressive and Liberal members, it became evident that it could not stand; but there was still the doubt whether the Government would have the courage to deal with the question directly. To have passed the difficulty to the tariff board, which the Government was beseeched to do, would have been a political blunder of the first order. The tariff on automobiles is still substantial; 27 1/2 per cent. on cars costing over $1,200, and 20 per cent. on cars below that figure. These rates, with a drawback of 25 per cent. on raw material, will still leave the automobile manufacturers in a strongly protected position; while the cuts will mean a substantial reduction in the price of cars. Those artless souls who think there is no connection between duties and prices are herewith advised to keep an eye for the next few weeks on the prices of motors.

It is satisfactory to observe that the Government has had the economic vision and the political courage to cut the knife into the income taxes all along the line. The increase in the exemptions, before the tax begins to apply, will be admitted by all to be a very real benefit to the country; but there are those who will see in the cutting down of the rate of taxation on higher incomes a remission of a burden the "better-off" elements in the community should bear. This is to take a short and narrow view of a very large question.

An unduly high tax on relatively large incomes is not a matter which affects only the owners of the income; it has a direct effect upon the business of the whole country. This question has been fully debated in the United States in the last two or three years and a definite conclusion reached which has stood the test of actual experiment. President Coolidge, urging a reduction of duty on large incomes, declared: "Our progress in national development depends upon two factors—personal ability and surplus income. An expanding progress requires that the largest possible amount of surplus income should be invested in productive enterprise under the direction of the best personal ability. This will not be done if the rewards of such action are very large taken away by taxation."

We shall have also in Canada a practical demonstration of the soundness of these theories. Ten or fifteen million dollars that would otherwise have gone into the Government this year will now remain with the owners and will be expended by them in various ways; but no matter how they spend it, the result will show an increased trade. Some of it will be saved; it will mean an addition to the usable capital of the country. Some of it will be spent for necessary purchases—result, an increase in the country's turnover. The reduction in these taxes will be immediately reflected in business conditions.

The income tax that remains, having in view the corresponding rate in the United States, will be quite high enough. The distinction to be made between unearned and earned income is also a very welcome innovation.

The restriction of the British preference, beginning next year, to imports brought in through Canadian ports, it is a proper nation-building expedient. All kinds of powerful corporation interests are at work to keep Canadian overseas trade in channels which lead through United States ports and it is quite in order for the Canadian Government to come to the rescue of the Canadian ports by this provision. The slight addition to the British preference made two years ago was made applicable only to imports through Canadian ports; and, trivial though it was, it deflected a large proportion of imports from Great Britain to Canadian routes. When the new provision becomes operative all our British imports will come to our own ports and be carried to their destination over Canadian railways. The problem of how shipping is to be brought to Canadian ports for the crying outward of Canadian grain may thus be solved in part.

The re-introduction of domestic penny postage will be all the more welcome because so entirely unexpected. This reduction will mean a good deal to the people of Canada; and the loss to the treasury, if there is any at all, will be temporary.

These reductions in taxation have, of course, been made possible by the extremely satisfactory statement of the financial condition of the country which Mr. Robb was able to present to the people. It was in many ways a record budget. The surplus for the year hit the fifty-five million dollar mark—a showing which made a reduction in taxation imperative. This enabled the Government to reduce the national debt by twenty-two million dollars; to give cash assistance to the Canadian National to the extent of ten million dollars; and to meet the capital expenditures out of receipts. The statement, as Mr. Robb says, reflects "the growing prosperity of Canada."

The budget is thus, in every sense, a people's budget. In considering the changes in taxation, the Government apparently kept thinking about the man on the street and on the farm and not about the burg, suave, perspicacious gentlemen who have been infesting the corridors of the Commons and the departments trying to discourage the Government from its suspected intention of lifting a few burdens from the backs of the people. It is possible also that the Government in planning the budget gave some thought to the fact that the people had votes and that the Government needed all the support it could get.

If so, there is no room for tears; it is the first time in many years that a budget has been drawn up for the purpose of helping the average individual and making him feel that his interests and wishes are regarded by the law-makers; and if this agreeable change in attitude is a result of the existing political situation, it is an additional and striking proof that the fear of the people and the corresponding desire to stand with them is sometimes a great stimulation to sound political thinking.

Orient Likes Canadian Wheat
Remarkable increase in Oriental demand for Canadian wheat is reflected in the regular statistical report of the Vancouver Merchant's Exchange. To the end of February the Orient took 16,093,728 bushels, an against 3,013,049 bushels in 1924-25 and 5,868,360 bushels in 1923-24. This increase is due to growing favor of Canadian hard wheat and to the fact that prices were right this season.

Explanations and Comments

1. Antediluvian Wickedness and Its Consequences.—Read the account of the story of the Flood, under the title, "Light from Archaeology," and then the chapter on "Antediluvian Wickedness." The story explains an unusual flood as caused by God's wrath at the wickedness of the human race and his consequent desire to destroy all mankind. Noah and his family alone were spared.

The conception of an angry God who repented having made man was natural to men when first groping after a knowledge of the true God.

II. Building and Entering the Ark, 6:13 to 7:16. Amidst all the wickedness, Noah being warned of God concerning things not seen as yet, moved with holy fear, gathered, seventy-five years of his house. Hebrews 11:7. The ark was built of gopher wood, and with pitch, in shape it was like a chest with flat bottom, four hundred and fifty cubits long, seventy-five cubits broad, and forty-five feet in depth. All animal life was put on board, and the ark was set upon for light and air, the roof being supported by posts. Its three decks were divided into compartments.

Manitoba Man Used Dodd's Kidney Pills for Aching Back and Bladder Trouble

Mr. G. J. England Received Great Relief and is Now Very Enthusiastic About Dodd's Kidney Pills. (Desford, Man.)—"I was troubled with my kidneys," states Mr. G. J. England, a well known resident of this place. "I used to suffer with my aching back and was unable to find your Dodd's Kidney Pills gave me great relief. I have taken them for ten years and have recommended them to scores of sufferers."

It is noticeable that people who have used Dodd's Kidney Pills are always anxious to recommend them to others. That is how Dodd's Kidney Pills have made and maintained their reputation.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are purely and simply a kidney remedy. They act directly on the kidneys, strengthening them and putting them in shape to strain all the impurities out of the system. British Farmers Coming Twelve hundred British farmers are expected this year under the 2,000-family migration scheme, now in operation between Canada and Great Britain. The original agreement extends over three years, and if the anticipated 1,200 families arrive in 1926, one-half of the three thousand will be in the Dominion and the agreement will have one more year to run.

Smart For the School Girl

A very practical style of dress for school wear is the model shown here. Ample freedom for play is provided by the deep inverted pleat in the front of the skirt. A vestee of plaid, contrasting color material is set onto the dress with three rows of machine stitching. The same stitching outlines the deep pleat and the long sleeve. The back is plain and the long sleeves are marked for a shorter length. Bureau blouses, linen, cotton broadcloth, or figured rayon would be suitable washable materials for this frock. No. 1303, which is in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 years requires 2 1/2 yards 27-inch material; short sleeve 4 1/2 yard less material. Price 25 cents.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT

Failure Of One-Crop System

Attention Now Being Given to the Growing of Legumes

(By Jas. D. McGregor, Glenora, Saskatchewan, Stock Farm, Brandon, Manitoba.)
Western Canada in the past has been a small grain growing country. The climate, soil and all other conditions combined have to justify the great grain fields to the exclusion of other lines of farming. However, on land that has been farmed from 10 to 25 years, the production has decreased from various causes, until the profits in strictly grain farming are no longer certain.

All one-crop or grain farmers realize sooner or later that the fundamental principle of farming is being neglected; that the decrease in yields and the difficulty with weeds, plant diseases and other pests, is due to the one-crop system, which depletes the available fertility of the soil, and does not provide for saving or increasing this fertility, or for controlling weeds and other pests. Hence, the great interest has been taken in livestock and alfalfa and clovers is not for these things alone, but because they will be the means, by which the profitable yields and production of small grains may be maintained.

The one-crop system is not peculiar to Western Canada as all new countries have persisted in the crop made easily grown, and which gave the best cash return. When this crop has ceased to be profitable, usually due to the depletion of soil fertility, livestock has been given to the growing of legumes, the raising of livestock and perhaps the use of some commercial fertilizer.

"Legume" is the name of a class of plants of which alfalfa, sweet clover and other clovers, beans, peas, etc., are members. The seed is borne in some form of pod. This class of plants differs from all others in that they provide a means of obtaining nitrogen from the air. Nitrogen is one of the essential elements of plant food. No plant can make any growth whatever without it, and it is the most expensive element when bought in commercial fertilizer. It is also the most abundant element in nature, as more than half the air is nitrogen. Hence, clovers, alfalfa, etc.—legumes—are utilized for the purpose of restoring this element of soil fertility. Young animals, and particularly milk cows, must have nitrogen in their feed, for no growth or milk can be made without nitrogen.

All plants use nitrogen, but the grains, grasses, corn, etc., must rely on the small available store in the soil, while the legumes may draw on the unlimited stores in the air. For this reason the hay and seed from legumes are much richer in nitrogen than that from the grains and grasses. Legumes obtain this atmospheric nitrogen by the aid of bacteria which live in tubercles on their roots. Unless these bacteria are present, the legume would be no more able to utilize the atmospheric nitrogen than any other plant. When the bacteria are not present, or for any reason will not grow on the roots, the legume will not produce satisfactorily because it is not natural for these plants to obtain a part of their nitrogen from the air. Artificial inoculation, liming the soil, etc., may be employed to advantage, especially on poorer soils.

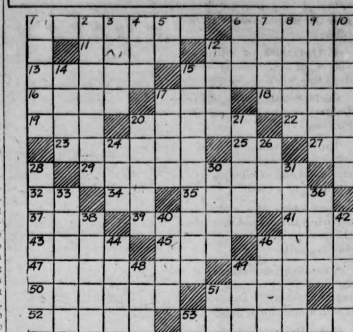

Farmers of the old farming region resort to every known means of saving plant food and returning it to the soil. Here in the new country, when land is worked out, we have moved on west or north, to new land, or, as a last resort, we have abandoned the land.

THREE HAPPY FAMILIES

Among the recent newcomers to the Canadian West are three large British families who arrived at Halifax on February 26th, on board the Canadian Atlantic from Liverpool.

All are bound for Vancouver, and travelled under the special reduced rate arranged for by the Government. Some indication of what they think of the adventure of the voyage, and their delight in coming to Canada, may be gained from their happy interested faces. They included two brothers, Donald and Newport, Monmouth, and their wives and seven children. The photograph shows them on the deck of the Alania.
